Dulles Reports To Ike On Geneva Meeting

Secretary Not Entirely Pessimistic

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles explored for 85 minutes Thursday the failure of East and West to solve vital differences at the Geneva conferences.

What conclusions they may have reached on where America and the Western Allies go from here in their quest for a just world peace was a secret they shared only with Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr.

But there were grounds for believing that Dulles was not entirely pessimistic; that he informed the President he still thinks Russia may consent to unifying Germany on terms agreeable to the West. Possibly he may say as much publicly Friday night in a report to the American people on the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Geneva. But he also is likely to hang squarely on the Russians the failure at Geneva to agree on conditions for a unified Germany, for achieving European security, for disarmament and for increasing East-West contacts.

The secretary outlined to Eisenhower what he has in mind for his radio-TV report, then closed himself with aides in the Gettysburg Hotel to start drafting it.

The President and Dulles will go over the drafts of the address to the nation in another conference Friday morning.

Hoover flew back to Washington after the conversations broke up.

Dulles flew from Geneva to Bermuda in the President's plane, the Columbine III. However, it developed trouble in one of its four engines and an Air Force Constellation brought the secretary from Bermuda to Washington.

From Washington to Gettysburg, he and Asst. Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., flew in a twin-engine plane.

The report Dulles was set to give shaped up as the most difficult problem yet faced by the President, recuperating at his Gettysburg farm, since he suffered a heart attack Sept. 24.

In advance of it, informed officials said Dulles would pin squarely on Russia the blame for failure of the three-week long foreign ministers meeting to settle any of the European deadlocks they discussed.

He was expected to pull no punches, either, in a 30-minute nationwide television-radio report from Washington Friday at 6:30 p.m. (CST).

Knox-Monmouth Feud Over Statue May Be Over

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — The Knox County-Monmouth College feud over the statue of Mother Bickerdyke appears to be ended.

Sheriff Max Jones had accused officials of Monmouth College—15 miles west of Galesburg in Warren County—of failing to keep a pledge to clean the statue of oil and soot, accumulated Oct. 13 when 21 Monmouth students set it ablaze on the eve of the traditional Monmouth-Knox College football game.

Thursday, however, the controversy over cleaning of the statue appeared at an end after meetings attended by Sheriff Jones, Monmouth College President Dr. Robert W. Gibson, Louis Gibb, head of Monmouth's publicity bureau, and R. Winn Miller, chairman of the Knox County Board of Supervisors.

Jones said it has been agreed that Knox County authorities will hire professional workers to sandblast and waterproof the memorial to the Galesburg woman who nursed the Civil War wounded. The statue stands on the lawn of the Knox County Courthouse.

Monmouth College will pay for the job, Dr. Gibson said. After the escapade the students each were fined $29.30 and costs, which Gibson termed a "bum deal."

In a statement, Sheriff Jones said there never had been any ill feeling on his part and that he "wanted and was most interested in maintaining friendly relations between Knox and Monmouth colleges and between Knox and Warren counties, and Monmouth and Galesburg."

Similar sentiments were expressed by Dr. Gibson.

Safe Polio Vaccine Production Assured

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Soaring production of safe polio vaccine is assured through discovery and correction of a major cause of earlier troubles, a polio committee reported Thursday.

Vaccine manufacturers should be able to roll smoothly into large-scale production, said Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon-general of the U.S. Public Health Service.

The main change is a way to prevent virus particles from "hiding" or clumping together so they escape being killed before being put into the vaccine. This is done by improved methods of filtering.

Safety checks of finished vaccine have been improved still further, said the Health Service's technical committee on polio vaccine.

One polio expert said bad batches won't happen again. All vaccine released since May 26 has been carefully tested for safety.

The committee report was released at the start of a panel discussion on the polio vaccine, a highlight of the American Public Health Assn.'s annual meeting. Early this year manufacturers used different methods of filtering the liquid harvest of living polio virus. Some manufacturers also sometimes allowed the liquid to stand for weeks or months after filtering, the report said. Some virus could have settled to the bottom in clumps or bunches.

When exposed to the formaldehyde to kill them, some viruses inside the clumps could have escaped exposure while the rest were killed, the report said.

One change requires that the liquid be carefully filtered no later than 72 hours before it is subjected to the formaldehyde treatment, and refiltered again during the first week of this treatment. In other polio developments:

Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine, reported new studies indicating that children under 6 produce antibodies when given the vaccine. One criticism made by some polio experts was that it might not protect younger children.

Other critics have suggested that perhaps the virus in the vaccine might "become reactivated" in the human body, or that the vaccine produced antibodies in humans because it actually contains traces of live virus.

Dr. Salk declared there was no proof for either of these guesses.

Russia turned its back on the hopeful promise of the summit conference held here in July and has hardened its whole attitude toward the free world.

Western leaders have an explanation. They believe Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov discovered after July that their policy of seeking wider contacts and better understanding with the West was creating restlessness and threatening to weaken the internal structure of the Soviet empire.

Two considerations were understood to be of great importance to Secretary of State Dulles.

One is the importance of preventing a sense of frustration among the German people and from creating deep dissensions in West Germany over how best to obtain unification. Dulles is convinced that the German people are strongly anti-Communist and pro-Western.

The problem which he and other Western diplomats now face is to maintain their faith that eventually Western policies will bring about unification.

Planes Spot 12 Duck Hunters Missing On Wisconsin Lakes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An airplane Thursday spotted the last of 12 duck hunters reported missing on lakes and rivers of Wisconsin overnight. The others were rescued or reached safety without aid.

The last to be located was Frederick V. 28, of Green Bay. An airplane pilot spotted him in an inlet off the main body of Green Bay. He waved to the plane from a boat and appeared to be safe.

Six others were rescued from Horicon marsh in Fond du Lac and Dodge counties by searchers who braved near-zero cold and winds that hit gusts of 72 m.p.h. Thursday morning.

Arthur White, 38, and Roger Leavitt, 33, both of Tomah, and Robert Remm, 24, of Milwaukee, were found in an aerial search of the marsh. They had spent the night in the area, White and Leavitt in an open skiff with no protection from the chilling cold, Remm spent the night in a houseboat fitted out with a stove and food.

During the night three other men were found in the vast marsh hunting area. They were Marilyn Meyer, 40, and Andrew Hlavac, 26,

President, Hughes, Weeks Confer On Budget, Road Plan

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — An increasingly chipper President Eisenhower Thursday whirled through a series of conferences that sparked hopes for a balanced budget and a vast new highway program.

With assurances from his doctors that he is coming along "most satisfactorily" from his Sept. 24 heart attack, Eisenhower opened his new office in the Gettysburg post office and put in more than two hours in work and conferences.

Out of the conferences came: Assurances from Budget Director Rowland Hughes that he thinks the federal budget can be balanced—although there is no certainty—both for the present fiscal year ending next June 30 and the one starting July 1. Hughes wouldn't say this would mean a tax cut, but most predictions of reduction have been pegged to a balanced budget.

Word from Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks that administration authorities are shying away from special bond financing in the direction of a pay-as-you-go system for a 25-billion-dollar network of interstate highways.

If Eisenhower goes along, it would represent a reversal of his previous support for the bond method. On that, Weeks said he had no indication of what the President would do. Democrats in Congress have fought the bond plan and Weeks' words indicated some grounds for agreement in Congress might be reached.

The sessions with Weeks and Hughes were a prelude to another major conference with Secretary of State Dulles to analyze the failure of the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Geneva.

All in all, it was the heaviest working day for Eisenhower since his heart seizure.

Make Pictures Of Accused Murderer, Graham, In Court

DENVER (AP) — Although most judges here oppose the practice, District Judge James M. Noland Thursday permitted photographs to be made in his courtroom when a man charged with murder was called before him.

Judge Noland invited the photographers—newspaper, magazine, newsreel and television—to make pictures under specified conditions.

The court session was brief, just long enough for the judge to announce delay until Nov. 28 of the arraignment of John Gilbert Graham, 23, accused of dynamiting an airliner carrying 44 persons, including his mother, to their deaths. Judge Noland estimated there were "at least 20" photographers in his courtroom Thursday.

"I have definite ideas about how a thing such as taking photographs in a courtroom should be handled," Judge Noland told a reporter.

"Before the court session was scheduled to open at 9 o'clock, I called all the photographers into my chambers. I informed them they were free to make all the pictures they wished as long as no flashbulbs or lights were used."

"I emphasized there could be no disturbances from the photographers any more than from the spectators. They agreed to cooperate along the lines I suggested and I think it worked out very excellently."

"The photographers did not interfere with the orderly progress of the hearing in any way."

ORDER TRUCKERS INCREASE RATES ON LIQUOR SHIPMENTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered truckers to increase rates on liquor shipments in 17 states by 3 to 6 cents for 100 pounds, effective Dec. 15.

The ICC said the trucking charges were unduly low on what it described as a "high-grade luxury traffic."

The hikes will be required on shipments moving between Kentucky, Ohio, Maryland, New York, Indiana, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Missouri, Illinois and the New England states.

The railroads complained to the ICC in 1952 that they were steadily losing liquor shipments. The ICC then permitted the railroads to publish rates lower than the highway carriers. However, the truckers in 1953 dropped their rates on liquor to match the railroad levels.

CLAY CITY WOMAN KILLED NEAR O'NEAL

O'NEAL, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Allene Duff, about 50, of Clay City, Ill., was injured fatally Thursday in a car-train collision at a crossing of U.S. 50 seven miles west of O'Neal.

Mrs. Duff's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ginger Duff, 18, also of Clay City, suffered shock and minor injuries.

Their car was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train.

AEC Commissioner Urges H-Bomb Blast To Spur Peace Quest

NEW YORK (AP) — AEC Commissioner Thomas E. Murray proposed Thursday night that the United States explode an H-bomb before the eyes of world leaders as "a declaration of American power" and to spur the quest for peace.

He urged that representatives of all nations be convened at Eniwetok for "a meeting at the atomic summit" — a meeting to be featured by a demonstration blast of a large hydrogen weapon.

He made his dramatic proposal in an address prepared for the Golden Jubilee dinner of Fordham University's Law School.

In a talk with a reporter earlier Murray said he was speaking for himself and not for the Atomic Energy Commission. Government spokesmen also said the plan has not been adopted as an Eisenhower administration policy.

Murray is a holdover member of the AEC having been appointed in 1950 by President Truman.

Declaring that "man now has the power to put an end to his own history," Murray voiced regret that such a demonstration of American strength and restraint had not been staged before the Big Four meeting last summer in Switzerland.

If it had, he said, there might now be "more substance to the spirit of Geneva."

Murray sharply criticized the government's policy of secrecy on nuclear matters.

Murray, one of the five members of the AEC, made a similar suggestion for a hydrogen bomb demonstration 17 months ago. At that time he said it might help to avert a war fought with weapons that would plunge "civilization" into "primeval chaos."

Thursday night he termed "inert" the U. S. policy of secrecy before and immediately after the big hydrogen detonation in the Pacific in 1954.

He said that as a result of this policy of announcing practically nothing about thermonuclear activities, the news about the hazard of radioactive fallout "burst out of secrecy."

14 On Military Plane Missing In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Nellis Air Force Base said Wednesday night it had been advised 14 persons were missing on a military plane that left Burbank, Calif., for the Nevada Proving Grounds. Wreckage of the plane was reported to have been sighted near Mt. Charleston, 27 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

Details of the crash were shrouded in secrecy.

Reports of the accident reached military authorities earlier but the March Air Force Base at Riverside, Calif., which operates a rescue service, said it was not at liberty to discuss the case "for security reasons."

The Indian Springs AFB, about 20 miles from the proving grounds, said the plane was to have landed there late Wednesday and when it did not a tracer was placed on it.

A few hours later the wreckage was reported sighted.

A rescue crew was making its way on foot into the heavily wooded area, Nellis said.

Later, a lieutenant in the Norton public information office confirmed the crash and said 14 persons were missing. He said the plane was bound for the Atomic Energy Commission test site in Nevada.

Names of the missing personnel were withheld until relatives were notified.

Red China Orders Release Of Three Jailed Americans

TOKYO (Friday) (AP) — Communist China Thursday ordered the release and deportation of 3 of the 19 jailed Americans it promised at Geneva in September to free "expeditiously."

A Peiping radio broadcast identified them as:

Mrs. Homer V. Bradshaw, New York City, a medical missionary whose husband also is held by the Communists.

The Rev. Marcellus White, 46, Waltham, Mass., a Passionist missionary imprisoned by the Reds in February 1952.

The Rev. Justin Garvey, 40, Union City, N.J., and Covina, Calif., a Passionist missionary jailed in December 1951.

Two of the 19 Americans were released earlier.

Majority Of AEC Members Reject Murray's Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A majority of the Atomic Energy Commission Thursday night turned thumbs down on one commissioner's proposal for a great world conclave at Eniwetok Atoll to witness an explosion of a giant hydrogen bomb.

AEC member Thomas E. Murray pressed the dramatic proposal in a speech Thursday night in New York, saying the demonstration blast would be a "declaration of American power" and would spur the quest for world peace.

But Thursday night the other four members of the commission issued a statement rejecting the proposal of Murray, a holdover from the Truman administration.

They indicated a belief that, instead of persuading Russia to "an effective system" for atomic arms controls, it might spur the Russians on to press their atomiprogram.

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and Commissioners Willard F. Libby, John Von Neumann and Harold S. Vance said:

"The recommendation which Mr. Murray makes as the major theme of his address is one he has long advocated. A number of months ago, the commission by formal action rejected Commissioner Murray's motion to invite foreign observers, among them Communist observers to witness tests of nuclear weapons in the Pacific. The commission has never changed its position on this matter. Mr. Murray's proposal, therefore, is contrary to the judgment of the Atomic Energy Commission."

ROBERT TENNELL SENTENCE COMMUTED

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Stratton Thursday commuted from five to four years the minimum sentence of Robert L. Tennell, sentenced in Cass County in 1952 for armed robbery.

The commutation will make Tennell eligible for parole consideration next December instead of in July, 1956. He is serving his sentence in Menard Prison.

STORM TAKES LIFE OF BOY

MILWAUKEE (AP) — At least one person died as Wisconsin was struck with the full fury of a winter storm Wednesday that brought heavy snow to the northern part of the state and winds as high as 72 m.p.h. to the south.

Twelve-year-old Dale Vernon Mortensen, of Spooner, Wis., was found dead in a six-foot snow drift in a gully near his home. The sheriff said the lad apparently suffocated.

Conflicts With Leading Demo Suggestions

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Agricultural Assn. voted Thursday in favor of lower minimum federal price supports on basic farm crops.

It urged an immediate widening of the range of flexible supports from the present 75-90 per cent of parity to 60-90 per cent.

The view of the association, the nation's largest state farm bureau, was in direct conflict with suggestions by Adlai E. Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman and other Democratic leaders for a return to a strict 90 per cent of parity.

Proponents contended the wider range would provide for establishment of different levels of price supports for different qualities of a given commodity and help prevent a pileup of more farm surpluses.

The IAA said that although many suggestions for dealing with the farm problem have been tried through legislation and administrative programs, "the economic status of agriculture has gradually weakened."

The farm group said one lesson learned through past experience is that "farm commodity prices cannot be successfully supported over long periods at a level above that established by the normal functioning of supply and demand."

Government purchase and storage of farm commodities, it went on, do not substitute for markets because such stored supplies must eventually be released.

It said acreage controls may help retard production of a particular commodity, but that during the period acreage controls have been in force "total agricultural output has continued to increase."

The farm group reaffirmed its stated purpose of a year ago "to shift emphasis from government price supports and acreage controls on individual commodities to the establishment of a soil fertility approach."

It said it will back legislation to:

1. Provide for an acreage allotment to be planted to soil building crops.

2. Require compliance with the minimum soil conservation allotment as a qualification for participation in agricultural conservation payment or price support programs.

3. Eventually remove restrictions on use of land not included in the soil conservation allotment and marketing quotas on specific crops.

4. Provide other changes as necessary to ensure a sound and workable soil fertility program.

It urged congressional action requiring mandatory cross-compliance and total acreage allotments when warranted by the seriousness of the supply situation.

Land diverted from crops, it added, should be devoted to soil conserving crops which cannot be harvested or pastured. This provision should apply to acreage diverted during the crop years 1953-54 and 1954-55 as well as any diversion in the future.

Other recommendations included revision of the system of establishing price support levels on basic agricultural commodities to provide "realistic price supports which will permit the entire current production and a portion of accumulated surpluses to move into consumption. In the case of corn, this would mean that acreage allotments could be immediately suspended."

Democrats Act To Unify Party, Return "Republicrats" To Fold

CHICAGO (AP) — Democrats moved swiftly Thursday to unify their forces for next year's elections.

The party's National Committee, at the first session of a three-day party meeting, unanimously approved a compromise set of convention rules designed to bury the "loyalty oath" controversy.

And the committee filled out its own ranks by seating four members—including one who was a compromise candidate from Texas, which went Republican in 1952.

But a threat of fresh discord over loyalty in the 1956 convention was voiced by Stephen A. Mitchell, former national chairman who headed the Advisory Committee on Rules.

The rules approved and recommended for use at the convention opening Aug. 13 in Chicago included these provisions:

A state party will send delegates to the national convention who have "bona fide Democrats who have the interests, welfare and success of the party at heart." No additional "loyalty pledge" would be required beyond that in the absence of a contest or challenge.

The state party will "assure" that the convention's nominees for president and vice president will appear on the state ballot under the Democratic label.

Every member of the National Committee has the "duty" to back the nominees. If not, he or she is subject to removal.

The rules call for participation "in good faith."

They were drafted as a North-South compromise after the row over the so-called "loyalty oath" at the 1952 convention. On the drafting committee were Mitchell, John S. Battle, former governor of Virginia, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

A display of Texas loyalty was witnessed by the committee in its closed session before the new rules were adopted. The committee voted to seat as a member Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey of Texas.

He was a compromise candidate backed by three politically powerful Texans—Gov. Allan Shivers, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, and House Speaker Sam Rayburn. He succeeded Wright Morrow, who joined Shivers in bolting to Eisenhower in 1952.

Wealthy Widow, 76, Denied Right To Adopt Man, 33

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — A wealthy 76-year-old childless widow was denied Thursday the right to adopt a 33-year-old father of four children.

"Maybe some day you will understand that what I am doing is for your own protection," Superior Court Judge Mark A. Sullivan Jr., told Mrs. Mariam D. Hartman.

Mrs. Hartman, of Verona, is the widow of Fred Hartman, a General Electric Co. executive who died a year ago. Court testimony indicated she is worth about $200,000.

In her application to adopt Arthur Gloss, of Little Falls, Mrs. Hartman stated that Gloss and his wife had been kind to her and had helped her around the house.

Sullivan said that Mrs. Hartman had recently suffered a mental illness and he doubted if she fully understood the nature of her request although two physicians testified she did.

Said the judge:

"Here's a woman of 76 with a great deal of money who meets and becomes maternally attached to a young man over a short period of time and seeks to make him her heir although she had other close relatives living."

The relatives were not identified.

Sullivan also found that the case did not meet state adoption laws. "There is no indication of a family relationship which is the basis and underlying principles of adoption," he said.

After the judge turned down the application, Mrs. Hartman, a petite white-haired woman, asked to be heard.

"Maybe I'm selfish in wanting a son," she said. "If you have any children you can see why I want a legal son instead of just a pretended one."

"I beg of you to change your decree."

The Soviet party, scheduled to arrive at New Delhi Friday, is returning a good will visit Prime Minister Nehru made to Russia earlier this year.

Editorial Comment

DIET OF CRISES

In the old days, a standard joke used to be that Latin American countries were so in turmoil that government overthrow was a regular event. Some wag once faked a dispatch from a South American land which read: "Heavy rains here caused postponement of the usual Monday revolution."

It looks as if the locale of that joke should now be shifted to France. Revolution isn't the order of the day, but votes of confidence are.

Premier Edgar Faure has had so many in recent times that he must count it a dull week when his government isn't hanging by a hair. If he has many more of these tests, some French manufacturer may decide to sponsor the program on TV.

RUSSIAN SMILE FADES

The "Geneva Spirit" is a phrase that will pass into the lexicon of history along with the other fashions and fancies of 1955. When it was conceived in midsummer, men the world over hoped it would soon be translated into the substance of real peace. But instead those hopes are now dashed.

They died at the second Geneva conference which was to begin casting the new spirit into the flesh and blood of solid agreements between West and East. They died because the men in the Kremlin quite plainly never had any intention of making a settlement except on their own totally unacceptable terms.

The only kind of German unity the Russians favor is a unity that would see West Germany detached from NATO, kept unarmed, and left politically neutral. In that position, the Germans would be prey to the full power of Communist subversive and propaganda forces, backed by the ever-present threat of a Red Army poised not far distant.

The only kind of disarmament the Soviet Union is for is the sort which would offer the phony appearance of enforcement and a misleading token reduction in armed strength.

Even on so relatively secondary a matter as improved contact between East and West, the Russians showed interest only in those things which would benefit them—removal of trade restrictions affecting Communist lands and a step-up of technical information flowing from West to East.

From all this it is thoroughly evident that, despite the broad smiles of the Russian leaders, they have not changed one iota. They still press as hard as ever for goals which have but one meaning—ultimate world domination by the masters of communism.

It may be true, as it seemed at the first Geneva meeting, that the Kremlin leaders understand the folly of nuclear war as a means of achieving their end. But it is equally true that they have not forsworn any other weapon or device in the pursuit of their aims.

They are trapped by the iron dictates of their Communist philosophy. It preaches the final triumph of communism, and in this the men of the Kremlin stoutly and publicly proclaim their faith.

Believing that, they cannot yield what they firmly hold. To Communists it is good sense to yield only when advantage has passed elsewhere, when cold appraisal indicates a particular strategy no longer serves. But the battle is never really broken off. It is simply shifted to another front.

The 1955 tactic of the high level smile was one of the most striking and perhaps most effective shifts the Russians ever have employed. But in the end it can be seen by all for what it is, even by the most glib neutralists. It is the same old cold war, dressed incongruously in the warm smile.

To men who believe as the Russians do, there can be no other course than the one they follow. And every stratagem of deception they use, no matter how artful, is doomed finally to failure. For the rigid logic of their purpose compels them sooner or later to show their true hand.

At Geneva we have seen it once more. The elaborate charade is over. The Russians may drop the mask of the smile now, for it can serve them no longer. The real shape of the struggle is seen again, and Communists will be hard put to find a new way to conceal it.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (P)—The surest way to lose all faith in human nature is for a man to get a black eye or a broken hand in a small household accident.

Nothing turns an optimist into a cynic faster. The reason: No matter how simple or logical your tale of woe is, neither friend nor foe will believe it.

In fact, if you do hurt yourself at home, you might as well tell a great big whopping fib about it. Most people may still regard you as a liar—but they'll at least credit you with being an imaginative liar.

I'm in a position to know. Recently I received two tiny chip fractures in my starboard flipper while supposedly safe in the refuge of my rented castle. The injury was a small one, but 10 days, two X-rays and three doctors later I found myself wearing an aluminum splint—"might as well be on the safe side"—and a bandage big enough for a wounded elephant.

In my office a friend who I am sure would readily lend me $1,000 if I really needed it took one look at the bandage and asked what had happened.

"Oh, just a little household accident," I told him, feeling I shouldn't upset his day with worry.

"You mean a little household argument," he replied heartlessly. "Maybe that'll teach you not to talk back to your wife."

I made a dignified mental note never to borrow $1,000 from him, even if he begged me on his knees.

When the second fellow solicitously inquired about my injury, I murmured something about "falling off a ladder."

"I'll bet you got it falling off the wagon," he remarked.

The third man didn't even bother to ask. He felt he already knew. "Don't tell me you caught it in a door," he said, "unless it was a swinging door."

After a number of others stopped me to find out the reason for the bandage, I gave up hoping for sympathy. I realized that people don't want the real truth in such cases. They are looking for entertainment.

The wilder the tale you tell the more they respect you.

I told one man a fellow stepped on my hand when I bent over to retrieve a woman's handkerchief, and he nodded his head and said, "I'll bet the woman didn't even thank you."

I told another inquisitor I had hurt my hand merely by sitting down on it, and he answered, "You know I heard of a guy who did that and actually broke five bones in his hands. Imagine it—five bones."

Still another questioner was satisfied when I told him my hand wasn't hurt at all—I was just wearing the bandage to pay off a bet. "How did I break my hand?" Why, defending a lady's honor, but please don't ask me whose," I crisply informed a middle-aged secretary. I felt a little guilty when she patted my shoulder and said: "Bless you, there aren't many men like you left in this world."

Editor's Note: Enough of this quibbling. Tell us the real truth. How did it happen?

(Boyle's Note: Well, if you really must know, I banged my hand against the wall deliberately—so I'd have an excuse to get out of caring the Thanksgiving turkey this year.)

(Editor's Note: Knowing how lazy Boyle is, we'll accept this story as gospel true.)

Put Egnog Peach Tarts On Menu for Christmas

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

BLAND EGGNOG lends its delicate flavor to Fruit Tarts, a dessert with a festive appearance.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

The Christmas holiday season lies ahead of us. Egg-nog is a traditional part of that season. But in these egg-nog peach tarts we have a modern variation on that favorite theme.

Flavor them with vanilla and almond extracts or an equal amount of rum or sherry flavoring. Tart shells or a 9-inch baked pie crust hold the filling. If packaged pastry crust is used, all ingredients for this modern holiday dessert will be pantry shelf and refrigerator handy.

Egnog Peach Tarts
(Yield: 8-10 tarts)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 cups commercially prepared egg-nog, 1 cup whipping cream, whipped, 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla, 1/4 teaspoon almond extract, 1 can (29 ounces) cling peach slices, thoroughly drained, 8 to 10 baked tart shells.

Mix gelatin, sugar and salt. Gradually stir in egg-nog. Warm over direct low heat until gelatin is dissolved. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped cream, flavorings, 1 1/2 cups drained peach slices. Chill again until mixture mounds. Spoon into baked tart shells. Garnish each tart with remaining peach slices and finely cut maraschino cherries. Chill 2 to 4 hours.

Here is another seasonal dessert with pantry-available products:

Cranberry Chiffon Dessert
(Yield: 6-8 servings)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/4 cup sugar, divided, 1/2 cup orange juice, 2 eggs, separated, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 can (1 pound) whole cranberry sauce, 1 cup heavy cream, divided.

Mix together gelatin and 2 tablespoons of the sugar in top of double boiler. Beat together orange juice, egg yolks, salt and orange rind; stir into gelatin mixture. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat, blend in cranberry sauce. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon.

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining 2 tablespoons sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Whip 1/2 cup of the heavy cream; fold in. Spoon into dessert

President Snowed Under With Trivial Paper Work

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (P)—(NEA)—Shortly before President Eisenhower went to Denver on vacation, Gerald D. Morgan, White House with a dry smile, "Mr. President, we have a very important matter for you to consider this morning."

Morgan laid on the President's desk a great stack of papers. It contained blueprints and specifications for a fish hatchery some place out west. Under the law, the President had to give his approval of the design before work could begin.

At another time Morgan had to bring in for presidential approval, a proposed public works bond issue for Hawaii.

Then he had to issue Pacific tuna fishing season regulations.

On still another occasion, the President—along with the commissioners of two Virginia counties—had to sign the contract for the construction of a new section of the George Washington memorial highway, along the Potomac. The law requires this. It is a joint project of a state and the federal government.

THESE ARE TYPICAL EXAMPLES of the thousands of things which the U. S. presidency is saddled with by law. In the four cases given, all the paperwork was prepared by lawyers and engineers and fish experts in Department of Interior.

The natural question to ask is why full authority to handle such matters shouldn't be given to the Secretary of Interior, to relieve the President of part of his desk load.

Just after the Eisenhower administration came to town, Bernard Shanley, former special counsel to the President and until recently his appointment secretary, started a protest of this kind.

It was done under an act of Congress passed four years ago. It authorized the President to delegate many of his powers to appropriate government agency heads whose appointment to office had been confirmed by the Senate.

The President is not relieved of his responsibilities for action taken by subordinates.

TO DATE, 33 SUCH DELEGATIONS of power have been made. Many of them are for minor and routine functions.

Three heavy workloads that have been lifted are:

Authority to order disposal of farm surpluses: It was given to the secretary of agriculture.

Authority to call reserve units of the armed forces to active duty. It was given to the secretary of defense.

Forty-five specific responsibilities placed on the President by the Mutual Security Act of 1954. They were divided among the secretaries of state and defense and the head of the International Cooperation Administration.

Special Counsel Morgan has taken up this project where Shanley left off. Morgan says there are nearly 100 more presidential powers now under study. Among them:

Certification of international air routes.

Issuance of federal government personnel regulations.

Receiving and acting on numerous administrative reports.

Signing hundreds of private bills which would be handled by a court of claims, or by independent agencies.

The signing of thousands of routine papers and commissions.

THE PRESIDENT IS NO LONGER required to sign commissions for officers of the armed forces or for local postmasters. But he is still required to sign commissions for U. S. district attorneys, U. S. marshals and many other lower level bureaucrats.

It is the nonofficial, ceremonial functions required of the President which are most wearing and wearying, however.

But how to relieve the chief executive of his purely social obligations without making him appear rude and—recluse, nobody has yet figured out.

Training in Relaxing Helps Combat Chronic Fatigue

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

A young woman of 28 with two children says that she is constantly fatigued. Although she has not lost any weight and the doctor cannot find anything specially wrong she just drags herself around and must always retire early. She would like any suggestions as she is at her "wits end."

This question of chronic fatigue is a difficult one. If it comes early in life, as it has to this young mother, when there are many calls on the strength, it can be a pretty serious matter.

It is true, of course, that most of us get overtired from time to time. This can be ascribed to not enough sleep, overdoing of some kind, or bad dietary habits and can usually be remedied by more sleep, a vacation, or some similar simple means.

When a physical cause for fatigue cannot be found, the simple steps should be taken first. One should experiment with trying to find the proper balance between work, recreation, and sleep. When the fatigued person is employed, however, change of occupation does not often appear to be successful.

One of the things that many of us have to learn is how to relax when we have the chance. This is principally a problem of mental training.

Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney, whose opinion against freedom for the Negro slave, Dred Scott, was one of the sparks of the Civil War, once spoke of the problems of Supreme Court justices:

"Each public official who takes an oath to support the Constitution swears to support it as he understands it, and not as it is understood by others."

In that particular decision—which said Negroes were not citizens—Taney's court suffered a terrific reversal, not by a subsequent court, but by Congress and the people with the passage of the 14th Amendment.

drugs in large quantities may be harmful.

Many Who Complain of being fatigued cannot identify the cause or seem to remedy it by such simple methods. A true disease is sometimes at fault. For example, an anemia often shows up by lack of pep. Diabetes, heart disease, tuberculosis, vitamin deficiencies, low blood pressure, and low metabolism are among the disorders which may be discovered.

Those who are abnormally tired should first review and study the kind of life they are leading to make sure that they cannot solve the problem themselves. If this cannot be done quickly then the advice of a physician is indicated.

If some physical cause can be found, treatment is likely to be effective.

New Test for Drivers Can Help Teach Safety Lesson

When you start letting a teen-age girl have car dates you know her safety depends to a great extent on whether or not the boy she has a date with is a careful driver.

When the time comes for your son to start using the family car on dates you worry not only about his safety but about the safety of the girl riding beside him.

Your teen-agers probably sense your fears for them. But that doesn't necessarily make them critical of their own and their friends' driving.

The November issue of the Ladies Home Journal has a feature that may be more impressive to your teen-agers than all your reminders to your son to "drive carefully" and your routine question to your daughter when she asks about going to a party with a certain boy, "Is he a good driver?"

ANOTHER WAY TO EMPHASIZE SAFETY
The Journal's feature is a test with drawings whereby a girl can check up on whether or not a date really is a safe driver.

But it could be used just as well for a boy to check up on his own driving ability.

So if you have a teen-ager in your family who is just starting to car dates, you may find it worth while to open the current Ladies Home Journal to page 54 and say, "Here's something I would like to have you read."

What someone else says about safety is usually more impressive to teen-agers than what their parents say. So this test could lend a little weight to your own warnings.

Virginia High 5 Sing At Arcadia Open Club Meeting

The annual Open Meeting of the Arcadia Women's club was held Thursday, Nov. 10 at the Arcadia hall. A turkey dinner was served to 91 members and guests by the domestic committee, Mrs. J. E. Dinwiddie, chairman, Mrs. Arthur Kershaw, Mrs. Clarence Mallicoat and Mrs. Allan Henderson.

The menu was turkey, dressing, whipped potatoes, gravy, creamed fresh peas, escalloped oysters, which are traditional for this dinner, cranberries, pickles, rolls, with butter, coffee, fruit salad and cake. There is never any limit to the amount of food one may eat. Roscoe Goodpasture returned thanks before the meal. The tables were decorated with dozens of red rose buds arranged in vases.

After the dinner the president, Mrs. Harold Rolf opened the meeting for the program which followed, with the group singing "America." Mrs. Andrew Wheeler led the pledge. The president welcomed the guests on behalf of the club and expressed the club's appreciation to the committees and the entertainment guests. One honorary member, Mrs. Thomas Ruby and husband were present. Other guests present were Mrs. Tillie Schone, Mrs. E. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Bourn, Miss Marcia McGeehee, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolfe.

A program was presented by the program committee, Mrs. Irland Thompson, chairman, Mrs. Byron McGinnis and Mrs. Ed Ater. Mrs. Thompson presented Harold Wolfe who in turn presented the singing quintet from the Virginia high school, Robert Shields, Patrick Dooling, Miss Janice Williams, Miss Janice Downs, and Miss Jeanne Cox. With Mr. Wolfe at the piano, the group sang "Smoke Rings," "Whispers," "Tea for Two" and "South of the Border." For a encore they sang "Shifting, Whispering Sand" with monologue by Robert Shields. The president closed the program period and again thanked every one for their help for the successful evening. Coffee was offered during the visiting period which followed.

The next regular meeting of the club will be the Christmas meeting at the Arcadia hall.

WHITE HALL VFW. AUXILIARY ATTEND DISTRICT MEETING

WHITE HALL--A large number of members from V.F.W. Post and Auxiliary 7684 attended the 12th district meeting held Saturday night and Sunday at Jerseyville.

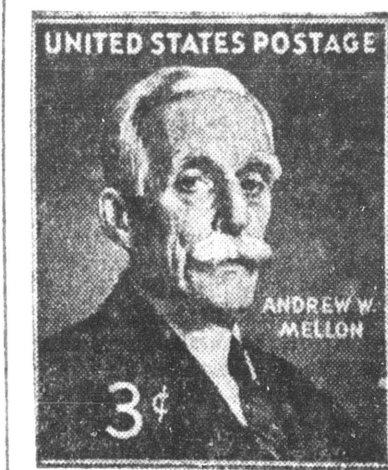

A parade was held at 1:30 which formed at the Presbyterian church and ended at the V.F.W. Home, with local members participating in carrying the colors of their Post and Auxiliary.

Dinner was served at 1:30 by Jerseyville Auxiliary members and separate meetings of the Posts and Auxiliaries. Attending from here were the commander, Jim Moore, and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McGlasson, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Waltrip, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ward, Mrs. Wanda Edwards, Mrs. Earl Kirchner, Mrs. Delbert Hardwick, Mrs. Juanita Pembroke, and Woodrow Tatman.

Members of the group attended the supper on Saturday night served by the host post, and the dance following.

DOLEFUL DOVE--A mourning dove that has a right to mourn is this one being held for the photographer at Silver Springs, Fla. The bird was mysteriously wounded and grounded by a short twig, imbedded in its neck. The wound had healed around the twig so the dove has to go through life with a chip on its shoulder.

BIRTHDAY STAMP--Going on sale in Washington, D.C., Dec. 20 is this stamp marking the centennial of the birth of Andrew W. Mellon. He served as secretary of the treasury from 1921 to 1932 under Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover. Likeness of Mellon is reproduced from a portrait by Oswald Birley.

DON'T put gun in car without putting it in some protective covering--

DO-- in transporting a gun, keep it wrapped or cased to protect sights, and to keep mechanism and bore clean--in the interest of your safety, says the National Rifle Association of America.

ROAD MOVES MOUNTAIN
HELENA, Mont. (AP) -- Montana's largest current highway project will eliminate the motorist-killing Devil's Elbow and other hairpin curves of crosscountry U. S. Highway 2. It is perhaps Montana's most spectacular highway job, involving relocation of a river channel and moving parts of mountains on the near western slope of the Continental Divide. Crystal Creek will be piped underground for it.

Chapin Town And Country Club To Serve Chili Nov. 19

The Woman's Town and Country club of Chapin met Nov. 15 at the home of Mrs. Paul Blakeman. The president, Mrs. Leo Hermes, called the meeting to order and the pledge to the flag and club collect were repeated.

The reading of the minutes of the October meeting by the secretary, Mrs. Edwin Lakamp, was followed with the treasurer's report by Mrs. Leland Werries.

Twenty-four members answered roll call with a health hint. A report on the Girl Scout project was given. The club is sponsoring a troop. A motion was made to have a fish pond at the chili supper to be served Saturday, Nov. 19, at the American Legion home in Chapin. Besides the chili, sandwiches and desserts will be available.

Mrs. Roberta Werries, chairman of the social committee, presented Miss Angela Killam from the Morgan County Health Service who spoke on "Dentistry." Miss Killam told of the proper method to brush one's teeth and care of the mouth, stressing the importance of diet in keeping healthy teeth.

Appointments were made for the supper as follows: chili, Mrs. Arlo Schumacher, Mrs. Walter Unken, Mrs. Clarence Hamilton and Mrs. James Brewster; coffee, Mrs. Edwin Lakamp, Mrs. Wayne Bracewell and Mrs. Marvin Matzke; water, Mrs. Frank Calloway and Mrs. Luther Brockhouse.

Those who will prepare and serve sandwiches, Mrs. Carroll Houston, Mrs. Louis Werries and Mrs. Richard Hinds; dishes, Mrs. William Lakamp, Mrs. Delbert Fricke, Mrs. Nettie Delmer, Mrs. James Carrigan and Mrs. Estella Williams.

Mrs. Leo Hermes will serve as cashier; Mrs. Leland Werries and Mrs. Charles Williams will be in charge of obtaining crackers and pickles; Mrs. Edward Middendorf, Mrs. Carroll Brockhouse and Mrs. Earl Smith, orange beverage; pie, Mrs. Fred Lakamp, Mrs. Francis Maier, Mrs. Paul Blakeman and Mrs. Andrew Delmer.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served in the lunch room by Mrs. Edward Thies, Mrs. Marvin Wildhagen, Mrs. Russell Orris and Mrs. Earl Winter.

Illinois Lists Cage Card; Combes Expects Much Stronger Bench

Cardinals Will Sponsor Change In Draft Rule

ST. LOUIS (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane said Thursday the St. Louis Cardinals will support a proposal that would make all minor league players subject to draft after one year in professional baseball if they're not moved to major league roster.

The amendment is to be proposed by the Nashville club at the minor league's annual meeting Nov. 28 at Columbus, Ohio.

Lane said:

"Because the Cardinals have the largest farm system, we would have the most to lose in the unrestricted draft of first-year minor league players, but we believe that this rule is in the best interests of all of baseball and for that reason we are willing to support it even at the risk of some sacrifice."

"The Cardinals always have been in favor of some rule limiting bonuses, but since it seems obvious that such a rule is currently unenforceable, we believe passage of this proposal would eliminate cheating if there is any."

Under the present rule, any player paid in excess of $4,000 in bonus and salary his first year is designated a bonus player and must be kept on a major league roster for two years or be subject to draft.

Coach Expects No Changes In Present Rules

NEW YORK (AP)—Lou Little said Thursday the nation's college football coaches apparently are satisfied with the present rules.

The veteran Columbia coach and chairman of the College Football Coaches Rules Committee said he has received several hundred letters from his fellow coaches.

"They seem to be much less agitated than last year when they were crying for a more liberalized substitution rule," said Little. "The new sub rule apparently is universally well liked."

Under the 1955 sub rule, a player starting a quarter can be taken out and then returned once in the same quarter. Under the 1954 code, a player removed could only be returned in the final four minutes of the second and fourth quarters. Once he was taken out in the first and third quarters he had to stay out until the period finished.

"About the only action the coaches seem to be wanting now is more interpretation on the 'sucker shift' or false start," said Little in a luncheon speech.

West Virginia Warned Not To Beat Syracuse

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Art (Pappy) Lewis, West Virginia University's football coach, got this letter in the mail Thursday:

"Art:

"This is to warn you that unless you want something terrible to happen to you and your team, don't beat Syracuse next Saturday. This is not a 'crank' letter and we are well enough organized to make you very sorry if you fail to heed our warning."

"DON'T TRY TO CROSS US PAPPY AS WE WILL HAVE SOMEONE THERE WATCHING EVERYTHING."

The letter came in a plain envelope and was postmarked at 4:30 p.m. Nov. 14 at Newark, N.J.

Lewis commented:

"They sure picked a fine day. Everybody in the stands will be totting rifles with it being Mountaineer Day."

The Mountaineers play Syracuse here this Saturday.

DUTCH LEONARD RESIGNS CONTRACT

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs have renewed the contracts of coaches Ray Blades and Dutch Leonard for the 1956 season. It was reported Thursday.

The signing of Pepper Martin as coach and Stan Hack as manager was announced earlier this fall.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 17—"A good squad with height, speed, and better depth than Illinois has had in several years." That's Coach Harry Combes' forecast for his ninth Illini basketball team which opens a 22-game schedule Dec. 6 against Butler in George Huff gymnasium.

"We've had eight full-length scrimmages and there's been little to choose between the first 10 men," Combes reports. "We started with an all-veteran five opposing one leterman and four sophomores, then we've gradually worked the first-year men into various combinations."

"It wouldn't surprise me if some of these sophomores push the more experienced men for starting positions before the season begins. If so, we'll definitely have a better bench than last year."

Letermen are led by Capt. Paul Judson, 6-4 senior guard from Hebron. Others are Harry Schmidt, 6-5 junior forward, Kankakee; Bill Altenberger, 6-2 junior forward, East St. Louis; George Bon Salle, 6-8 junior center, Chicago (Loyola Acad.); Bill Ridley, 5-9 senior guard, Taylorville; and Bruce Brothers, 6-5 senior forward, Quincy.

Another letterwinner from 1955 will bolster the squad next week when Hiles Stou, 6-4 junior forward from Peoria (Central), will report from the football squad.

Most promising candidates are Larry Breivogel, 6-3 forward from Lawrenceville; Ted Calazza, 6-7 center from LaGrange; Don Ohi, 6-3 guard from Edwardsville; and Johnny Paul, 6-1 guard from Elgin.

Combes used Judson, Schmidt, Bon Salle, Ridley, and Altenberger in his first all-veteran lineup which opposed Brothers, Breivogel, Calazza, Ohi and Paul. Since the opening scrimmage, however, players have been interchanged in a series which "has been virtually even," Combes said.

"Most of the games have been extremely close and at no time has there been more than 11 points difference between any two combinations."

In addition to foregoing candidates, Combes also lists five other sophomores who may develop as definite varsity candidates. They are: Jim Chengary, 6-3 forward, Chicago (Bowen); Arnold Dauksavage, 6-2 forward, Elgin; Bill Bok, 5-11 guard, Terre Haute, Ind.; Mort Miller, 6-2 forward, Chicago (Roosevelt); and Ray Thonn, 6-2 guard, Proviso (Maywood).

The squad could be further strengthened at mid-semester if Phil Judson, 6-3 senior guard from Hebron, and Tom Rank, 6-2 sophomore guard from Chicago (St. Patrick), can erase scholastic deficiencies which will keep them idle for the current term.

Texas Christian Favored To Receive Cotton Bowl Bid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas Christian is heavily favored to nail down the Cotton Bowl spot by whipping Rice.

The Sugar Bowl situation is still quite involved and no nearer solution.

Of the four Southeastern Conference teams still eyeing the Sugar Bowl, Mississippi and Georgia Tech are idle, preparing for games a week hence with intrastate rivals, Mississippi State and Georgia, respectively. Auburn and Tennessee are on the firing line, the former playing Clemson and the Vols taking on Kentucky.

Mississippi, with only one league loss compared with single ties and losses for the other three, is favored for the conference championship. The New Orleans promoters may wind up matching two Southeastern teams if they are unable to do another selling job on Navy, which whipped Ole Miss last Jan. 1.

Notre Dame, which holds a No. 4 national ranking despite an early season loss to Michigan State, has a South Bend date with Iowa, a team always tough for the fighting Irish.

Michigan State closes with non-conference Marquette. In other Big Ten games, Illinois is at Northwestern, and Wisconsin at Minnesota and Purdue at Indiana. In the Big Seven, Iowa State is at Colorado and Missouri at Kansas.

SCOREKEEPER'S NIGHTMARE

KARNAK, Ill. (AP)—Karnak High School's basketball roster reads like a scorekeeper's nightmare.

Five Douglas boys are members of the Pulaski County school's varsity squad and none of them are brothers.

Wayne, the only senior in the bunch, is an uncle to Clyde and Ronnie. Noel and Donnie are cousins.

Wayne led team scoring last season with 376 points.

KALINE IN SELECT COMPANY

DETROIT (AP)—Al Kaline, Detroit's 20-year-old right fielder, is in select company as a hitter. The sophomore who paced both leagues in hitting during 1955 with a .340 average is the third soph to lead both circuits in hitting.

The others are George Stone, a St. Louis Brown rookie who won the American League batting title with .358 in 1906, and Stan Musial, who hit .357 as a soph for the St. Cardinals in 1943. Only other soph to win batting titles are Paul Waner of the 1927 Pirates with .380 and Pete Reiser of the 1941 Dodgers with .343. Kaline, incidentally, is the youngest soph ever to win a batting title.

Scribe Picks Michigan Over Ohio Buckeyes; Howie Cassidy Injured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan and UCLA, who have been checking time schedules for the Rose Bowl, must wait a couple of days before boarding the train—the trip might be canceled.

Both face stern conference football tests Saturday which could send the Pasadena bids in another direction.

Michigan, once-beaten and sixth-ranked nationally, meets an old rival, Ohio State, before a sellout 97,239 at Ann Arbor, Mich., while UCLA, No. 5, tangles with Southern California in a game to be witnessed by a national television audience (NBC) and a crowd of 100,000 plus at Los Angeles.

Should Ohio State whip the Wolverines in the Big Ten title game, the Rose Bowl bid would go to Michigan State, a powerful outfit beaten by Michigan earlier in the year. Ohio State, a guest last Jan. 1, can't return to Pasadena.

Cassidy's Injury Not Serious

Biggs said Cassidy's injury was a "muscle strain in the neck at the top of the shoulders." The star underwent heat and massage treatment for about 45 minutes Thursday, and Biggs said it would be repeated.

Team physicians said X-rays showed no bone injury and Cassidy took part in full-scale drills a few hours after the accident.

Red Sanders' Uclans must smash the erratic Trojans to be assured of post-season action. If they should lose, the bid could go to Oregon State, which plays Oregon. UCLA's Pacific Coast Conference record is 5-9 while Oregon State has a 5-1 mark.

Michigan rules a one-touchdown favorite over Ohio State, whose hopes were dampened by a slight injury in an automobile accident Thursday to its ace ball-carrier, Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy.

UCLA, with star passer Ronnie Knox on the sidelines with a broken ankle, is a 10-point pick over the Trojans.

Over the rest of the land, the contests have less national significance.

Oklahoma and Maryland, Nos. 1 and 2 nationally and the only two major eleven still unbeaten and untied, are favored to win handily and move another step toward their clash in Miami's Orange Bowl. Oklahoma, with 27 straight victories, meets Nebraska. Maryland plays George Washington.

When Nashua won Hialeah's 1955 Flamingo Stakes it started him on his way to a record—seven $100,000 victories in one year.

Coach Bill Glassford Resigns Football Post At Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—University of Nebraska football Coach Bill Glassford announced Thursday he is leaving his post at the end of the current season.

"My family and I have decided for our best interests and happiness that I will not accept the five-year option on my contract," the 39-year-old Glassford said.

Glassford has been Nebraska grid coach for seven years. His current five-year contract paying him $12,500 a year, expires next July 1, but carries an option under which Glassford can renew it for five years if he wishes.

Glassford would say nothing on his future plans.

In seven stormy years at Nebraska, Glassford's teams have won 31 games, lost 34 and tied three.

Saturday's Big Seven Conference championship battle with Oklahoma will round out a rags-to-riches season that saw the Huskers drop an opener 6-0 to lightly regarded Hawaii and then come back to win all five conference tests for the best loop record in 15 years.

Rain Threatens UCLA-Trojans TV Game Saturday

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The weatherman predicted Thursday that playing conditions may be anything but good for the UCLA-Southern California football game Saturday, which might be construed as giving the Uclans an even better chance of winning.

The weather prophet predicted the threat of rain Friday night. The two Pacific Coast Conference rivals square off in Memorial Coliseum before a sellout 100,000-plus crowd and countless television fans around the nation.

UCLA, already a slight favorite, would move up a bit in the mud of slippery going.

Southern California, dependent on the shifty running of halfback Jon Arnett, has been anything but happy in bad weather.

The lost to a supposedly inferior Washington team in the mud, to Minnesota in the snow and to a fighting Stanford team in the smog.

UCLA, of course, was no ball of fire in the squishy going against Maryland when the Bruins suffered their sole loss of the season, 7-0.

If the field is slow or sloppy, the heralded duet between Arnett and UCLA's left halfback, Sam Brown, might give way to a duel between the starting fullbacks, Bob Davenport of UCLA and his opposite number, Gordon Duvall, or to their respective alternates, Doug Peters and C. R. Roberts.

Willie Hartack rode 15 winners in four days the second week of the Laurel meeting.

SPORTS TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—It seems the story of the London fight between Ewart Potgieter and James Parker wasn't quite complete. It didn't give the name of Potgieter's jockey.

Anyone as big as the South African—his specifications were given as 325½ pounds and a 7-foot, 2-inch elevation—must have carried extra weight just to make it a contest. The bout ended in a draw.

Such outside individuals never seem to amount to much as fighters, they get in their own way, for one thing, and there is too big an expanse of midsection for a target for a smaller man. Also, they have to punch down, which is not exactly an advantage.

We saw only one of these huge men-mountains, and he was just a one-story building compared to Potgieter's skyscraper construction.

He is Primo Carnera, who really couldn't fight, although he held the world heavyweight championship. He was too good natured, for one thing, and his magnificent body was built for lifting things rather than fist fighting. His blows were ponderous, but not damaging.

When he first came to this country he was taken on tour as a preliminary to a second tour during which he was to be built up as a heavyweight contender.

On the first tour he was just unloaded, in sections, and carted to some large auditorium where the gaping public was permitted to see him, at two-bits a gape, if memory serves. He really was something to see, at that, as he went through setting-up exercises which displayed his bulging muscle to best advantage.

The second time around he was matched with fighters of varying abilities. We saw him against Bearcat Wright, a tough Omaha heavyweight. In the first or second round Wright clipped the big guy on the chin, and the build-up nearly ended right there.

Primo's jaw sagged, his eyes got glassy and the tree trunks he used for legs bowed and wavered like twigs in a hurricane. He went on to win in the fourth round as he half-hit, half-pushed Wright out of the ring, but we had seen enough to make us skeptical of his fighting ability.

Carnera, incidentally, has found his niche as a wrestler. He is prospering, and not long ago in a discussion of the current top money earners in sport his name was brought up, the sponsor insisting that Primo topped them all.

That was quite a claim, in that a jockey such as Eddie Arcaro must have an enormous income. The name of Sonja Henie was brought up, but her income was put in the theatrical bracket, as her ice show is in the form of a spectacle rather than competition.

Getting back to Potgieter, it is not improbable that he will be brought over to this country where the people will turn out to see him, drawn by the same curiosity they would evince in the appearance of a stuffed whale.

It is doubtful that the fans would fall again for a buildup such as that which Carnera received. He'll have to be able to fight a bit, or after the first look the customers will turn their backs on him.

We don't believe he could whip Rocky Marciano in a hundred years. He would outlast Rocky some 135 pounds, but with Rocky weaving in low and taking aim at Pottie's ample pot it wouldn't last long.

Maybe a wrestling promoter should grab the South African giant to save him the distress Carnera suffered before finding there's gold in them mats.

Notre Dame Nine Point Favorite Over Iowa Saturday

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Notre Dame, the nation's No. 4 football team, faces in Iowa Saturday a team which this year has swiped the perennial Irish claim of playing the toughest schedule in the country.

The battered Hawkeyes, with a 3-4-1 record, aren't even rated among the top 20 teams in the weekly Associated Press poll. And they'll be a nine-point underdog in their season finale against the Irish (7-1) at South Bend, Ind.

But in their four last games, the Hawkeyes have faced three of the nation's top nine teams—No. 5 UCLA, No. 6 Michigan and No. 9 Ohio State.

Meanwhile, the Fighting Irish the past two weeks had to huff and puff, for the first half, at least, to whip Penn, winless in eight starts, and North Carolina, now beaten five times.

Notre Dame's only meeting with a currently high-ranked team resulted in the lone Irish loss, 21-7 to Michigan State, now No. 3 in the AP ratings.

It's true, however, Miami of Florida and Navy were top ranked when Notre Dame beat them and have skidded since.

Iowa Coach Forest Evashevski won't buy any sad stories of Irish injuries. He's had more than his share of hobbled athletes, including the early season loss of a great end, Frank Gilliam.

In retrospect, Iowa's chance for an expected fine season blew up in its second game when Wisconsin roared back from a 14-0 deficit to stun the Hawkeyes 37-14.

Against two mutual foes, the Hawkeyes and Irish showed comparable scoring power. Iowa trimmed Indiana 20-6 a week after Notre Dame blanked the Hoosiers 19-0. Iowa and Purdue played a 20-20 tie and the following Saturday, Notre Dame defeated the Boilermakers 22-7.

Iowa and Notre Dame have faced 13 times, 10 of the games running continuously since 1945. Although Iowa's third and last victory in the series was by a 7-0 score in 1940, three of the last five games have ended in ties.

Only Four Lettermen At Carthage

CARTHAGE, Ill.—The return of only four lettermen may prove to be a handicap to Coach Art Keller as his Carthage College courtmen face a tough 22-game schedule.

Out of a 21-man roster, only four returning veterans head the lineup. They are Tom Bowersox, junior from Northbrook; Rolie Swanson, junior from Prophetstown; Fred Imhoff, senior from Murphysboro, and Ron Hilt, junior from Lisbon. Although Swanson was the team's second high scorer last season, Keller has virtually all new material to work with.

The Redmen will open their season against Culver-Stockton College here on Friday, Dec. 2. A newcomer to the lineup this year is Midland College of Fremont, Neb. Carthage will play host to the Midlanders here on Saturday, Dec. 3. The final game of the season will be played away from home when the Carthage hoopers meet Iowa Wesleyan College at Mt. Pleasant on Feb. 22.

Tough competition is expected this season from such schools as Monmouth, Quincy and Concordia Seminary. The problem of training new material will undoubtedly be the influential factor in the win and loss column at the end of the season.

Last year the Redmen completed an 8-12 record with a scoring average of 77.4 points per game. Their opponents outscored them by a slight margin, collecting 1,639 points for an 82 points per game average.

David Prince Wins Over Havana 37-21

Coach Paul Keller's David Prince heavyweights started its first game of the season off with a bang last night as they downed Havana 37-21. There were 9 fellows who hit the scoring column for DP. Duncan and Parker were high with 8 points apiece. The high scorer for Havana was Mullens with 7.

In the lightweight game Havana beat David Prince 41-31.

YANKEES DEFEAT U. S. TEAM

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The visiting New York Yankees Thursday crushed the Okinawa all star U. S. service team 9-1 in a seven-inning game. The Yanks leave Thursday night for the Philippines.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market turned down Thursday as it neared a new record high mark. The setback was small but it was the greatest in three weeks. During that time the market drove ahead strongly to within scoring distance of the historic high set Sept. 23.

After the close Thursday, the Federal Reserve Board okayed boosts in the discount rate of its banks in New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta and Chicago to 2 1/2 per cent from 2 1/4 per cent. It was the fourth time this year the rate has been hiked, and it put the banks' charges for lending money at the highest level since 1934.

The rate is that charged member banks for money they borrow from the central bank. When that money is loaned in turn by the commercial banks to business, the higher interest charges usually are passed on. That makes money tighter and tends to limit business borrowing for non-essential purposes.

The Federal Reserve Board in Washington said the move was anti-inflationary.

The last increase in the discount rate Aug. 3 sent the stock market down the next day in one of the hardest falls of the year.

The stock market Thursday started slightly higher but ran into selling difficulties almost immediately. Aircrafts and radio-television manufacturing rallies during the day, but the rest of the market refused to go along.

The decline carried prices down around $3 at the outside but there were some gainers of $3 to $6 in the list, a result of selective buying.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks dropped back 50 cents at $179.80. The record high Sept. 23 was $181.50. Both the industrial component of the average and the rails were off 80 cents while utilities remained unchanged.

Volume amounted to only 2,310,000 shares as against 2,460,000 shares Wednesday.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed on volume of 790,000 shares, compared to 730,000 Wednesday.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

GRAINS MAKE LATE RALLY, LEAVING RYE, WHEAT, BEANS HIGHER

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (U)—A late rally wiped out early losses and left wheat, rye and corn at record highs.

The rally also enabled corn and oats to reduce early losses but they didn't get back above the previous close. Dealings were slow and the late rally was attributed primarily to short covering.

Wheat closed 1/4 lower to 3/8 higher, corn 1/4-1/2 lower, oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, rye 3/4-1 1/2 higher, soybeans unchanged to 1 cent higher and hard 10 to 18 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Wheat showed very little response to the overnight news a trade agreement had been worked out with Brazil, providing for shipment of about 18,400,000 bushels of wheat to the Latin American country. Brazil will pay in her own currency.

The wheat will come from government stocks, traders said. As these stocks are not hedged in the futures pits, sales of such wheat would not cause an immediate price response in futures. However, they do help get rid of some of the enormous surplus.

Technical considerations appeared to be the main help in soybeans as some short covering was inspired by the fairly steep drop of the previous session.

Soybean meal managed to stabilize itself in the cash market, again selling at $47.00 to $48.00 a ton. Oil was unchanged at 11 cents a pound. It was reported two barges loaded with soybeans were en route to Chicago from Memphis, reversing the usual movement.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (U)—Selected industrials performed well in a narrow mixed bond market Wednesday. Trading was sluggish and without any outstanding feature.

U. S. Treasury obligations moved up in fairly active trading. Strength was particularly noticeable in the long-range government bonds.

Over-the-counter dealers predicted the Federal Reserve Board's hike to 2 1/2 per cent in the discount rate in New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta and Chicago would make for tighter money and depress prices of government bonds.

Corporate volume declined to $2,640,000 par value from $3,684,000 Wednesday.

Fire Destroys Skating Rink; Loss $20,000

WHITE HALL—The Bishop skating rink in White Hall was totally destroyed by fire early Thursday morning. The volunteer fire department was called to the scene at 1:45 a.m.

Damage was estimated Thursday morning by the owner and operator, Bill Bishop, at between $15,000 and $20,000.

Flames consumed the large frame skating rink, furnishings and equipment. The floor alone was laid at a cost of over $8,000. It was not determined Thursday morning what started the blaze.

Both the old and new water pumps responded to the call that kept volunteer fire fighters at the scene until 6:30 Thursday morning.

When it became apparent firemen would be unable to save the rink they turned their attention to keeping the flames from spreading to the Bishop residence, some 60 feet from the skating rink. The home was saved.

During the conflagration the 1 P. Rose gas tank, located near the site, exploded.

The skating rink was near the east end of town at the extreme end of East Sherman street.

The damage was only partially covered by insurance.

Members who were to receive pins were seated in the center of the lodge and as their names were called walked to the worshipful masters' station.

Edwy Chumley, secretary of Harmony Lodge, and Deane L. Cannell, acting secretary of Jacksonville Lodge, read the names and as the members approached the east Heidinger and Anderson placed the pins on their coat lapels.

The pins were given to those who have been members for 25, 30, 35, 40 and 50 years.

Honor Veteran Members

Those receiving 50 year pins were Thomas R. Dodsworth, William G. Goebel, D. C. Diltz, all of this city, and George V. Engelman of Salem, all members of Jacksonville Lodge No. 570.

Officers in charge of the installation ceremonies included: J. Chester Colton, worshipful master; Carroll T. Hughes, marshal; Earl Hembrough, chaplain, and Charles A. Hughett, secretary.

Telephone Company Prepares To Cut In Automatic Exchange

The Jacksonville exchange of the Illinois Telephone Co. will switch from manual operation to automatic dial service at 12:01 a. m. Sunday, Dec. 18, W. O. Randall, district manager, announced Thursday.

Telephone habits of 8,500 subscribers will change overnight.

The "Big Switch" was originally set for Dec. 10, but was moved up to Dec. 18.

Jacksonville will be the first exchange in telephone parlance. Dial operation will be a novelty to many persons. Some already are old hands at spinning the wheel and selecting numbers, but it is estimated that thousands of adults and children in this community have never acquainted themselves with dial operation.

The "brains" of the automatic system are housed in the new telephone building at West Beecher avenue and Dunlap Court. The building was erected and equipped within the past year, although the conversion project has been moving forward nearly two years.

The Jacksonville dial system is being installed at a cost of more than $1,500,000, phone officials said.

Organize For Change Over

The telephone company will set up a conversion committee consisting of eight employees. One of these will be in charge of giving directions to others as to the work in connection with the transfer of the subscribers from the old office to the new plant.

These employees entrusted with the "Big Switch" will be located in the old office, and others will take up their stations at the new plant. Five minutes before the hour set for conversion the employee committee will begin informing phone users to delay their calls, because of the technical changes that are taking place.

Within a period of 10 minutes after 12:01 a.m. the public may start using the dial system.

All lines in the old office on West State street will be disconnected at the time of the change over. As soon as that operation is completed the lines will be cut into service in the new building.

Phone users of the Jacksonville community can then begin using their dials and the new phone directory, which will be delivered to them soon after Dec. 8.

The new directories will have a sticker upon the face of them, with instructions as to when they may be used. Inside the front cover will be a booklet giving complete instruction as to how to operate the phones in everyday use, emergencies, and long distance.

The telephone company for the past month has had two instructors in the new office training the present operators on the new toll board. They have been trained in its operation so that they will be well prepared to handle the new board at the time of conversion.

All telephones in Jacksonville have been changed from the battery type to dial, or a dial has been placed on phones which were already made for the new type service.

Officials said all the magneto telephones in the rural area have been replaced with dial type phones. All of the rural lines have been reduced to eight or less subscribers, which telephone officials pointed out would greatly improve the service.

No telephone will ring except when it is called. This is a new experience in this section of Illinois.

W. C. Randall, district manager, said all toll circuits to surrounding towns and cities are operating through the new plant. All exchanges of the Illinois Telephone Co. in the Jacksonville district will dial Jacksonville subscribers without the assistance of the toll operators in this city. This will greatly speed up the service, eliminating the handling of the call by the local operators.

Hunting Suggestions To Help Prevent Shooting Accidents

By BION HENDERSON

The Associated Press

You stand up and say you're a hunter, and pretty quick there's another fellow who says he's there to tell you how to go hunting without shooting someone else in the process.

The national campaign for hunting safety has grown to about those proportions. Safety groups, gun clubs, sportsmen and conservation officials have joined in an effort to reduce the statistical expectations that there will be somewhere around 1,500 gun accidents — and 200 deaths — among 15,000,000 hunters this year.

That's all to good, but it's only one side of the educational picture. The other, of even more personal and immediate concern to hunters, is some information on how to go hunting without getting shot yourself.

In the general view, this may be a selfish and unworthy matter, but it's of intense interest to anyone who's had his hat shot off by some guy who apologized by saying, "Sorry, when I saw that red coat I thought you were a deer."

There is a maxim that says how if you want to know a man, you should hunt with him. But since hunting and fishing philosophers can whip up a good maxim faster than they can a good story, turn that one end-for-end and it still comes out pretty good. And if you want to hunt with a man, not only know him, but know what he's drinking.

For this is a true thing, that when the supply of bottled goods gets low in a hunting camp, some hunters think they can see antlers on a porcupine.

And most hunters — aside from those who shoot themselves — are shot by companions and on purpose rather than accidentally. That is, they're mistaken for game, and the game they're mistaken for ranges from woodchuck and turkeys to deer and bear.

Big game hunting does not really kill the most hunters, it just gets the most attention because ordinarily big game hunting is concentrated in a shorter period of time. In fact, shotguns are bigger killers than rifles, as a rule. More effective, too, at close range.

Knowing your companions is perhaps the best rule. That means you know that they know what they're doing, and with what. A man who takes an unfamiliar weapon on a trip is best left to practice alone. And the novice who intends to get all his experience in the field may be a fine bridge partner for years, if you limit your contact to that.

Many a big game hunter has gotten himself shot through utter foolishness. A white handkerchief, for instance, is nothing to be waving about in the woods where hunters stalk the whitetail deer. And a hunter who slinks his deer over his shoulders and walks back to camp during shooting hours is practically inviting a fusillade. Yet hundreds do.

It's better to take the red or orange coat required by most states, drape it on the deer, then drag him. With a long rope. That's a good reason to be wearing a red shirt underneath the coat yourself. Bring your singing voice with you, too, and break it out loud and clear when you figure you might be in a danger zone. Not many big game animals can sing, even in an off-key baritone.

In any kind of hunting, know where your companions are. If game, whether buck or bird, flushes between you, duck. There'll be another covey, but you'll not see it with a face full of No. 6 shot. When it comes to the other major cause of gunshot wounds afield, you only have to deal with one frail human — you. Most states tell you that you can't carry a loaded gun in your car, but they can't pass laws to keep you from dragging one through a fence by the barrel. Nor leaning one against the car or a tree when you sit down for a smoke.

And these three items alone would cut the statistics almost in half.

WHALE OF AN IDEA

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese motion picture producer wants to run a whale farm.

Kyusaku Hori, president of the Nickatsu Motion picture Co., has asked government permission to build a 2,000 square yard pool "where a variety of whales can be kept for scientific study as well as a tourist attraction."

DETROIT (AP)—If you ever were given a traffic ticket in Detroit, maybe you forgot about it but police haven't forgotten.

A special force of 27 officers is permanently assigned to locate and arrest more than 50,000 persons on a list of delinquent traffic law and city ordinance violators.

SEES "PROOF"—Juraj Slavik, former Czech ambassador to the U.S., says Russia's "spirit of Geneva" peace campaign is a "fake." Slavik, who quit his post when the Communists took over his homeland, points to the sale of Czech arms to Egypt as proof. In Washington, D. C., working for a "free Czechoslovakia," he believes the Reds are trying to stir anti-Jewish trouble in the Middle East.

Beadles Named To Head Ashland Centennial Plans

ASHLAND—The village board met in a special session to conduct the normal town business. The regular meeting was not held on Nov. 1, because of the death of Kermit J. Murray.

R. S. Ranes was appointed to a five-year term on the cemetery board. It was reported that the cemetery board had added another $1,000 bond to their investment, bringing the permanent care investments up to $13,900.

The proposed new street lights were again discussed. It was decided to meet with the supply company to see if fewer lights could be put in now, reducing the cost; also to see if the C.I.P.S. would help out more on the special equipment cost so mercury vapor lights could be used.

E. L. Beadles was appointed Centennial chairman. Ashland's

Centennial will be in 1957 as the town was founded in August 1857. Other towns having centennials advised that it takes over a year to prepare for one. It requires many old pictures, records, etc. in preparation.

The board voted to commend K. J. Murray, posthumously, for his civic efforts.

DETECTIVE FICTION

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Private Eye in real life doesn't seem to be quite the type that divides his efforts between twitting the D.A.'s office and fighting off blondes while drilling an unsavory character here and there. At least that's the way it seemed at a meeting of the Professional Detective Assn. of Virginia. The facts:

The average detective at the meeting was 55, married, a bit overweight, didn't pack a rod, and was a former peace officer of some sort. He had one modest drink of blended whisky before lunch and after lunch smoked a 10-cent cigar.

"I never even shot at anybody," said T. J. Cousins, association president, a private eye for 50 years.

The custom-built 1956 Buick ROADMASTER 4-Door Riviera

NOW - 4-Door Hardtops for anyone's price taste

EVER SINCE Buick fashioned the first 4-Door Riviera, this panoramic sight-seer has been the top hit in hardtops.

And no wonder—what with its wide-open view, its extra roominess and comfort, its easier in-and-out passage.

So what better news can we bring you for 1956 than that this fabulous new body style now comes in all four Buick Series—the extra-roomy SUPER and the custom-built ROADMASTER, as well as the bedrock-priced SPECIAL and the high-powered CENTURY.

But that's only part of the reasons why the 1956 Buicks are so quickly becoming the choice of the choosiest.

Take getaway. A new advance in Variable Pitch Dynaflo* now gives you double-action take-off and instant acceleration right in the gas-saving normal driving range. And that's plus the tremendous surge of safer-passing power you get when you floor the pedal to switch the pitch.

Take the great new chassis that bulwarks every '56 Buick and brings a surer "sense of direction" and a whole new sweetness to the most envied ride in the industry.

Or take styling—or roominess—or the luxury of interiors—or the extra safety of a new braking system, of new interlocking safety latches, of new Safety-Aim headlamps. On every count you'll find here the best Buick yet.

Best of all, take a sitting and a ride in this stunning new beauty—and a good long look at its hard-to-beat prices. The rest we'll leave to you. Can you come in soon—maybe before another sun sets?

USEFUL SAGEBRUSH

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Ranchers of the West have spent a lot of money and effort getting rid of sagebrush. But two researchers from Oregon State College say that ranchers who kill sagebrush that doesn't have a good grass cover under it may be the victims of something even worse.

That's rabbitbrush, a hearty range perennial that moves in quickly when other vegetation is killed. Overgrazing, fire and cultivation have encouraged its spread until it has now become a major range threat in some areas. Cattle won't eat it.

W. W. Chilcote and C. E. Poulton, OSC range experts, say sage can keep rabbitbrush in check.

Emphasis Will Be On Turkeys This Week At Stores

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The emphasis will be on turkeys in most of the nation's food stores this weekend.

Meat dealers figure that many housewives will be buying their Thanksgiving birds on Friday or Saturday, rather than early next week. It's generally agreed that they will cost more than they did a year ago—perhaps five or six cents a pound—because production is down around 4 per cent. The National Turkey Federation stresses, however, that there will be ample supplies of plump birds.

For the forthcoming weekend, stores will have a good selection of worthwhile buys in meats. Prime rib prices will be down two to four cents a pound from a week ago in many instances. Sirloin steaks will be lower, too.

Legs of lamb and loins of pork are other favorite weekend selections, but will cost more than a week ago. Price advances of around six cents a pound will be fairly common on fryers.

The best vegetable buys include beets, cabbage, onions, potatoes, radishes and turnips. Also recommended by produce men are cauliflower, beans, cucumbers, pascal celery, spinach, escarole, endive, eggplant, yams and artichokes.

Coffee prices are due to come down, following cuts in wholesale prices of around four cents a pound in the last week by leading roasters.

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

XXI THEY made the painful journey to the store and entered. Vic Frazin met them, troubled and curious. Bob watched from a counter. Ermine watched with wide eyes, deep and troubled, horrified at Dan's appearance. He smiled crookedly.

"I guess I wouldn't win any prizes right now," Dan said. "Vic, get some liniment."

Art Frazin came toward Dan, aye in his face. He stared as though he had found a new hero and Dan flushed. He noticed that the boy had started to shape a gun from a piece of wood.

"Golly, Dan! That was a fight!" Art breathed. Dan winced as he eased down onto a box near the stove.

"Nothing to be proud of," Vic came hurrying with the liniment and Dan eased himself to a more comfortable position, looked at Phil, then at Vic.

"I can get a gun," he said. Color left Vic's face. Bob stirred behind the counter and settled back with a sigh. Phil Preston wheeled about, his face alight with a new hope.

"Where?" They all leaned toward him. Phil eagerly, Vic and Bob holding their breath waiting for frightening news. Ermine stood quite still by the stove and Dan noticed the troubled shadows that touched her eyes. Art stopped whistling.

"Where, Jan?" Phil insisted. "At... Vivia's?" "Vivia's?" Vic exclaimed. Phil's head lifted and his jaw tightened.

"She offered it to me. I left it at her house until I could see you and we could work out some plan."

Phil shrugged and a note of, friendliness had left his voice. "Get it... use it."

"Not that easy," Dan shook his head. "It's just one gun and there's eight of them." He looked toward the front door. "If I can depend on all of you, there's one way we could end this mighty quick. We'd be free of the outlaws by nightfall."

"Name it," Phil snapped. Dan looked at Bob and Vic.

"I'll go get the gun, Phil, you, Vic and Bob wander over to the Wyoming. I'll get there as quick as I can. I'll have the gun hidden. Each of you get close to one of those renegades. I'll be watching you."

"But but..." Vic started and his voice faded out.

"When I see you're ready, I'll throw a gun on the whole bunch. It wouldn't work ordinarily, but each of you grab the gun of the man you're watching. That'll give us four guns and we'll have no trouble rounding up the bunch. It ought to be easy after that to take care of the two or three who might be around town."

Vic and Bob did not move. Phil looked to the stove, placed his back to it. His mouth was twisted thoughtfully. He nodded again, decisively.

"I'll work."

VIC'S head jerked up. "Only with more luck than anyone can expect. Too much chance of going wrong. Let's play it safe."

Art's awed whisper sounded loud in the room. "Golliee!" Phil stirred. "Vic, you're going on the promise of that big outlaw, Bruhn. When was a killer's word or a robber's promise worth the breath it takes to make it? They could steal you blind. They could fire the store, kill you and your family, even destroy the whole town."

"They won't," Vic said. "Here's another argument, Vic. Your daughter. You're risking her every moment you let those men stay in town. Maybe your stock isn't worth the risk, but is Ermine?"

Vic paced from the stove to the counter and back again. Art held his partially carved gun forgotten in his hand, his eyes following his father back and forth. Dan made a futile attempt to clean the mud off his clothing. Finally Vic swung around, arms wide.

"All right, I don't like it. But maybe there's nothing else."

Phil broke in. "I'll take Dan home where he can clean up and get in decent clothes. I think you and me are of a size, Dan."

Phil said nothing from the moment they left the store. Both men were silent as they turned down the side street that would take them to the lane where the Prestons lived. Dan cleared his throat and Phil spoke without turning his head.

"You want to explain about Vivia, I reckon. Dan. Better save it until we get home."

"But Paula—" "She has a right to know, too... and direct, not through me."

THEY heard Paula in the kitchen but Phil led the way directly upstairs to his room. He hauled underclothes, shirt and trousers out for Dan, rummaged in his drawer for a pair of thick socks as Dan wearily placed the liniment bottle on the dresser. Phil picked up the big pitcher from the ornate bowl on the marble-top table.

"I'll get hot water right away." He was gone but a short time. "Come to the kitchen when you're dressed. We'll have some coffee. You'll need it before you start."

"Does Paula want to see me?" Phil smiled frostily. "I persuaded her." He walked to the door, and the coldness had left his face. "Dan, maybe I'm judging too harsh and too previous. You always seemed to be a man to ride the river with. I just told Paula that. You've got your chance."

Dan soberly met his searching look. "Thanks, I reckon no one could ask for more. I'll be down."

CARROLLTON

The members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship spent Friday in Peoria where they were taken on a personally conducted tour of the Methodist hospital in that city in which the group were especially interested. The local MYF group are planning for their annual Booth Festival in the near future and the proceeds from same will be given to the Methodist hospital in Peoria to be placed in a building fund for the construction of a second wing on the hospital. The local group were conducted through the hospital by the chaplain and were given lunch in the hospital cafeteria. While in Peoria they also visited the Caterpillar plant and enroute home the Dickson Mounds State Park at Havana.

In the group were the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Pitsch and daughters, Jim Rhoads, Sandra Baldwin, Shirley Rae Roll, Donald Price, Ruth Ann Brooks, Roger Carter, Margaret Shaw, Carl Moushon, Velma Moushon, Duane Moushon, Doris Moushon, Mrs. Lyle Moushon and Miss Lois Jett.

NIXON AT PALM BEACH WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived at Palm Beach International Airport Tuesday night and went at once to Delray Beach where, he said, he hopes to get in five days in the sun.

He and his wife came here from Washington.

Nixon said he was here on no particular mission but that he merely took advantage of an opportunity to get away from his official duties and would spend much of the time on the beach with "perhaps a little golf."

WANTS TO FORGET HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Jill Jarmin has decided not to prosecute screen star Susan Hayward, who Miss Jarmin said socked her with a hair brush.

"I've been through a humiliating experience that I want to forget," Miss Jarmin told Dep. Dist. Atty. Van J. Whiteside Tuesday. She withdrew her request for a battery complaint against Miss Hayward.

Miss Jarmin earlier told police she dropped in for coffee Nov. 3 at actor Don (Red) Barry's home only to become engaged in a wrestling match with the pajama-clad Miss Hayward.
